

Viewers are getting jobs from our stories

Here is a nice consumer thank you from a viewer:

Jeff,

I just wanted to thank you for doing a story a few months ago about Alpine Access. When I saw this segment I immediately went online and signed up with the company in hopes to get a job that would allow me to work from home. I must admit I was at first a little skeptical about Alpine Access being a legitimate company but relied on your research and story. It did take me awhile to get the job I wanted but only because I was looking for work on specific days and hours. Alpine Access did email me several jobs but it wasn't until recently that I was finally able to accept a job offer.

As you know Alpine Access allows individuals to work at home and not as an independent contractor. I know you recently did a similar story that named two other companies but they didn't appeal to me as much as Alpine Access did simply because, as mentioned, I would work for Alpine Access and not as an independent contractor. Now that we're in the middle of the holiday season I will be able to work from home with the hours I wanted for a legitimate company as you had mentioned in your story.

Thank you so much for exposing this kind of information!
